While a magician works, the mind does the tricks

By Andrew C. Huntington

When -- August 13, 1969

A discreet backyard magic show often an exercise in elaborate denial. Chairs unhitched through a window and windows shuttled back, sparse furnishings, something hushed to silence the talk. If the performer is ambitious enough or needs some...