Optical Illusions

Posted by Natural Vision Writer on May 10, 2009 under How We See, News |

Here are some of the best optical illusions I have found online. They are fun to look at because they really test your vision and show you how it is also your brain that sees. Your perceptions of the world, including your sight, are based on your experiences. Without a context to put them in, for instance, the patterns of light that reach your eyes would be meaningless.
