

Magicology: illusions or reality

APRIL 23, 2009

in FACTS & FIGURES

A mind-twisting article in Wired's May issue quotes neurological researcher Stephen Macknik, "Tricks work only because magicians know, at an intuitive level, how we look at the world." Adds Teller of Penn & Teller fame, "Giving the trick away [gives] nothing away because you still couldn't grasp it." Hmm. The magic of Bernie Madoff, now imprisoned CEOs, and defamed televangelists?

Link to this page

ShareThis

0 tweets

tweet

TALKING ABOUT THINKING

Interviews with imaginative people on how they think

Guest: Matt Browning

brilliant creator of unusual haptic and augmented reality exhibits

Press "▶" to view a video

SUBSCRIBE TO SKAAREWORKS BY EMAIL (email addresses not sold or shared) or by RSS

About Skaare

Strategist, writer, visual thinker, advisor, and implementer for a wide range of communication and change issues.